Voice of the Federation

This is a great day in the history of soccer in Australia — not because it is just another international match, but because Australia for the first time is prepared to meet an overseas challenge with a team really worthy of being classed as international.

Never before has this State been able to witness such an array of talent, superbly fit, expertly coached and fully equipped to meet this overseas challenge.

Mind you, we are conscious of our visitors' fine record.
Most of the players in today's game were in the team that went down 0—1 to Mexico in the last World Cup series.

To give our challengers some worthwhile opposition, even to the extent of a closely fought match, willgive the Federation world recognition after only two years of existence.

We are confident we can justify our optimism in inviting this crack Central American team to this country.

WELCOME -

WE WELCOME the representatives of Costa Rica — Deportivo Saprissa to Australia. The visit was planned in times when the Federation was fighting for recognition as the leaders of soccer in New South Wales.

During the course of the tour, the Federation has gained affiliation and we are happy to have our Central American friends with us today.

Costa Rica's visit to New South Wales opens up a new chapter in the history of soccer in this country.

Never before has a team from the American Continent visited these shores. Therefore we, the Federation, take pride in once again leading the way in soccer enterprise and entertainment, in having with us today a complete contrast from the usual run of overseas soccer teams.

Few of us had ever heard of soccer in the Americas until Brazil "popped its head up" in the 1954 and 1958 World Cup series. Since that time all eyes have been on South America and they are now looked upon, by some people, as the greatest soccer countries in the world.

We look forward to seeing the style of the Costa Ricans and maybe some day in the near future they may be able to reciprocate by inviting a leading Australian club to Central America.

We hope their short stay in New South Wales will be a happy and successful one and trust they take with them happy memories of their visit to this country.

- Deportivo Saprissa!

★ DEPORTIVO SAPRISSA CLUB ★

The Club Deportivo Saprissa was established by its President, Mr. Ricardo Saprissa Ayma, famous ex-star of the Professional Soccer Football Association of Spain.

His clubs were Deportivo Espagnol and Barcelona.

During the past eight years the National Costa Rica team has included at least seven of Deportivo Saprissa's team. This team participated in the elimination series of the World Cup series in 1958 and lost 0—1 to Mexico.

Since 1950 Deportivo Saprissa has been Champions of Costa Rica on five occasions and runners-up on the other three.

Freedom and individual liberty, zealously guarded by all Costa Ricans, are best epitomised in its formerly majestic forts which now are historical and archeological museums.

Where is Costa Rica? Between North and South America, where Mexico tapers down to the Panama Canal, there are six small republics which constitute most of Central America.

They are Guatemala, Salvador, Honduras, Nicaragua, Costa Rica and Panama in that order.

Nicaragua is the largest in area, but Guatemalia with its 3,500,000 citizens is the most populous.

Costa Rica has a population of approximately 1,000,000 and is 19,656 square miles in area.

Most of this region is mountainous, covered with thick tropical forest on the Atlantic slopes, which receivemost of the rains brought by the monsoons.

It is, therefore, on the Pacific side that most of the people live.

All are Indians or have Indian blood to a greater or lesser degree.

Bananas, coffee and sugar are their main exports.

Its capital San Jose has a population of approximately 100,000.

It is noted for its fine Cathedral, University and Observatory.

First State Squad

This is the first occasion in the history of Australian soccer that a squad of players has been selected and given special training weeks ahead of the actual date for which they are being prepared.

Camden a lovely country town some 30 miles from Sydney was selected as the ideal sport for the squad's final preparation.

They were billeted at a beautiful, Tudor style hotel, The Plough and Harrow", where special meals, entertainment and training quarters were provided.

The Camden Council graciously permitted the Federation Squad the use of their Showground for light training and special tactics.

A week in this enuiroment has put the players in the right frame of mind to meet the challenge of Deportivo Saprissa. Their arrival is timed for an hour before the actual game, which should provide the greatest Australian opposition ever to any visiting overseas team.

FROM the SIDELINES

WITHOUT PREJUDICE. —

In this short discourse I would draw your attention to the fairness and objectiveness of the Federation selectors.

The NSW Federation Team we are about to see comprises three Australians, three Austrians and one player each from England, Germany, Ireland, Scotland and Hungary.

Every one of them has been selected on his ability, regardless of nationality, country of origin or convictions.

Every one of them is a First Division player by any standards.

The three Australians are in the team because they are mighty fine players, not because of their nationality.

And the former European players are not in on their names either.

Yes, it's a League of Nations, all right.

A League of Nations blended into one solid team under the Australian banner.

It took courage and wisdom to select this team, but isn't it the sign of the future?

The sign of Great Australia of Tomorrow!

THE STYLE.

The Federation team has a British —English—Scottish—Irish—Australian) defence and Continental (Austrian—Hungarian—German) forward line-up.

The British are renowned for their superior defensive ability, the Continentals for their constructive, attacking football.

On paper, it should be the ideal combination.

☆☆☆

FARSIGHTED POLICY.

And another little point.

The average age of players taking part today is 23 years.

In other words it is a blend of youth and maturity, enthusiasm and experience.

The team may not win today, although we hope it will.

But playing together it will eventually become a force to be reckoned with.

And this is what we wish to see in the near future.

So, "chapeaux bas" for the selectors and the Federation.

May their secret dreams come true.

SOUTH COAST

Reserves: S. Richardson, F. Lelli and T. McWatters.

Co-Editors: Bob Walker and Mac Jeffers.

Pen Points of South Coast Players

TERRY ORVAD, goalkeeper (Corrimal); Has been Corrimal's regular goalkeeper for the last two season, but this is the first time has gained representative honors.

Terry has made amazing progress and reached his greatest heights in this year's Ampol Cup series. A versatile sportsman, also proficient at cricket and bowls.

ALEX ROBINSON, right full back (Balgownie). Has been knocking on the door for representative honors for some time. Rarely plays a bad game in club football.

Solid full back, who migrated from junior ranks at Balgownie into the senior team.

BOB BIGNELL, left full back (Corrimal); One of Australia's best known footballers. Captained Australia at the Melbourne Olympic Games in 1956.

Bob has been playing first grade football for 20 years, but is still in great form. Also a versatile sportsman, who played a big part in Corrimal's cricket premiership win this year.

PHIL PETERS, right half back (Corrimal); The "form" player of the year, currently heading the Herald's Best and Fairest player competition.

Philip came to Corrimal eight years ago as an inside forward. Starred for Corrimal in this position, but has had greater success as a wing half being switched to this position this year.

GEORGE BARLOW, centre half back (Balgownie). Like Peters was an inside forward when he arrived in this country from Stoke (England).

However, he has been one of the mainstays of Balgownie defence since being switched to the "stopper" position. Plays well above his weight.

BOB YOUNG, left half back (Corrimal). The only member of today's team, who has represented South Coast against every touring team since the war.

Since the South African tour in 1950 Bob has been continually overlooked by State and Australian selectors, but is still one of the best wing halves in the country.

Has played a big part in Corrimal's success during last six years.

RON BURNS, outside right (Corrimal); One of the most prolific goal scoring wingers in the State. A product of Tarrawanna junior club, but has played all his senior football with Corrimal. A match winner for his club.

KEITH LEARMONTH, inside right (Corrimal). Regular centre forward for his club and has been in the top bracket of the Federation goal scorers in the last two seasons.

Has represented Australia in both schoolboys and senior football. However, it was as an inside forward that he first made his mark.

BRUNO GANIS, centre forward (Balgownie). An Italian, who topped the goalscoring table of the NSW Association's Southern competition last year, when playing with EPT.

Signed for Corrimal this year, but was transferred to Balgownie in time for the first competition match. Very fast and a powerful shot.

TASSIE ARNALL, inside left (Woonona). The speediest man in the team. Playing his first big representative match. Was a star centre forward as a junior, but then shone as a winger.

GUIDO ZANETI, outside left (EPT). One of only two Southern League players in the team. (Arnall is the other.)

Playing in his first representative match, but was chosen as a reserve for South Coast two years ago. A speedy winger, who knows how to score goals.

Soccer Growth in Sydney

By L. GAUTIER

Since the advent of the Federation two and a half years ago Sydney club soccer is really booming and one can safely say that interest in club soccer has never been higher in the history of the code in New South Wales.

Crowds at club games are continually on the increase and major crowds are to be found regularly at the E. S. Marks Field, Lambert Park, Arlington Oval, MacArthur Park and Corrimal's Memorial Drive.

A proof of the growing popularity of Sydney soccer is the wide coverage given by the daily Press.

Three years ago, under NSW Association control, club soccer hardly rated a mention in the sports pages of our Press; today all this has changed and no responsible leading paper can afford to ignore the code.

Teams like Prague, Canterbury, Hakoah and APIA enjoy the largest following, but all clubs are building up fine public support and a team like North Side United could develop a big following as they become better known on the North Shore.

Sydney's most soccer-conscious areas are Leichhardt, Granville, Auburn, Bankstown and the Eastern Suburbs, which has a large migrant population.

Italo-Aussie club which has taken over Lambert Park from the now defunct Leichhardt-Annandale have the most consistent and faithful following when playing at home or away and Lambert Park has once again become one of Australia's leading soccer grounds.

Prague and Hakoah, who are only nine years old, are following the lead of older clubs by fostering juniors in the Eastern Suburbs; this is a very progressive move which should pay handsome dividends in years to come as plenty of talent will be available locally.

Balgownie, founded in 1885, and Granville in 1880 are two of the Commonwealth's oldest clubs and Australia's greatest player Judy Masters played for the "Villagers".

Two-year-old Budapest is the "baby" of Sydney clubs, but will no doubt gain a fine tradition as year go by.

Star-studded Prague is considered by experts as Australia's glamor team and possibly the best-ever Australian club team thanks to the importation of some of Austria's most talented players.

Seven Prague stars will be seen in action today and spectators will find is easy to understand why the team is still undefeated, though given very hard games, this season.

Concord, Granville and North Side have adopted youth policies and their approach to this year's competition is the gradual introduction of youngsters and intensive concentration on coaching and conditioning of players.

Most broadminded and competent experts agree that soccer is destined to great things in Australia.

In Sydney the Federation has certainly put the game ahead ten years.

There is still a lot of work to be done before the whole of Australia attains world class and though Rugby League is still, by far, the top NSW winter sport, soccer has overtaken Rugby Union on its exciting road to the top of NSW sport.
